

Overview of Enterprise Funds CIP

The Enterprise Funds are used to account for operations that are financed and operated in a manner similar to private business enterprises. Carroll County has five enterprise funds: Carroll County Regional Airport, Firearms Facility, Solid Waste, Septage, and Utilities (Water and Sewer). There are no new projects in Firearms, Septage or Solid Waste Enterprise Funds.

Airport

The County and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) developed a five-year plan for the continued development of the Carroll County Regional Airport. Funding sources for airport projects include FAA, Maryland Aviation Administration (MAA) and County Airport Enterprise Fund revenues. Significant projects are planned for the Airport and include: completion of an obstruction study of all airport property, planning for the future acquisition of land next to the airport and upgrading the storage capacity for Jet A fuel. FAA funding increased for FY 04-FY 08 from 90% to 95% on eligible projects, reducing the County's and the State's share to 2.5% each.

Utilities

The Bureau of Utilities operates the Freedom Sewer, Freedom Water, the Hampstead Sewer and several other small systems. Projects can generally be divided into those intended to improve the existing system, for example the several looping projects to improve flows and equalize pressure, and those intended to provide for increases in demand. Area Connection Charges and Maintenance Fees primarily fund these projects. Included in the CIP is nearly $2.5 million for the renovation of the Piney Run Wastewater Pumping Station, $1.3 million to upgrade the Freedom Sewer Plant and $1.6 million for the construction of the FSK Wastewater Pump Stations and Force Main.
