Workshop to Help Businesses with Stormwater Pollution Prevention Postponed

Westminster, Friday, October 2, 2015 – The workshop to help businesses understand stormwater regulations that affect them and good housekeeping practices they can employ is postponed until January 2016. The Carroll County Environmental Advisory Council (EAC) is partnering with the Carroll County Water Resource Coordination Council to host the free workshop, which was originally scheduled for October 6, 2015, at Carroll Community College, in Room M-157 at 4:30 PM.

At the workshop, businesses will learn how the stormwater regulations may affect them. Workshop topics will address good housekeeping measures that can be put in place to help prevent stormwater pollution and avoid potential discharge violations. County staff will explain how businesses can perform their own in-house stormwater compliance inspections; receive a courtesy visit for assistance; and what to do if there is a potential illicit discharge. The agenda includes discussion on how businesses can be recognized for implementing clean water practices at their sites.

More details on the Businesses for Clean Water Workshop can be found on the website at <http://ccgovernment.carr.org/ccg/npdes/workshop/>. Check this website to confirm the new date and to register for free.
